

The Kingston Coalition for Active Transportation is working to make our city a place where walking, cycling, and other kinds of active transportation are more safe, secure, convenient, and efficient. The Coalition is comprised of members who represent all ages, both genders, and recreation and utilitarian interests.

Community members who live in the City of Kingston are invited to apply to be a member on the Coalition.

Preference will be given to those who are personally committed to walking and/or cycling as healthy, sustainable modes of transportation, and who are familiar with the Kingston Transportation Master Plan, On-Road Bikeway Implementation Plan, and Kingston's Cycling and Pathways study.
